

NAME TWO MEN FOR LEADER OF CANADIAN CLUB

Chas. T. Ballantyne and Hugh O'Donnell Candidates

BOTH IN LAW

Election to be Held in Union On October 15th

Charles T. Ballantyne and Hugh O'Donnell have been named candidates for the position of president of the McGill Canadian Club. On October 15 elections will be held to fill the position left vacant by the death of Aylmer Morris. On the same date undergraduates will go to the polls to decide who is to be vice-president of the Union. J. R. Carson and Ward Allen have been nominated for this position. Mr. Carson's withdrawal of his nomination for the position of cheer leader will render voting for that position unnecessary. J. M. C. Duckworth is cheer leader by acclamation.

We, the undersigned, nominate for President of The McGill Canadian Club.

LADIES OF MCGILL TO STAGE TEAS

McGill Women's Union Arrange Year's Programme

The inauguration of a series of weekly teas for members of the staff and their wives and also for outside friends was a decision made at the first meeting of the McGill Women's Union held in Strathcona Hall recently. The president, Mrs. H. M. Mackay, was in the chair and Mrs. R. A. E. Greenhields and Mrs. E. E. Howard presided at the tea table tea being served before the business meeting.

The proposed teas will be held at the Faculty Club on University St. This idea for providing social opportunity for members of the University faculty and citizens to meet carries out the idea of the "town and gown" gathering of last season. Mrs. J. B. Porter is convener of the special committee in charge of the Faculty Club teas, the first of which is to be held on November 6.

It was arranged to have the tea for all members of the university staff, in honor of new members, on Saturday afternoon, October 31, and Mrs. Gordon MacDougall is convener for the arrangements for its reception.

Mrs. J. B. Porter was appointed convener of the University Settlement Committee, and Mrs. H. S. Bissett

PLAY HARVARD AND YALE IN NEW YORK

McGill Hockey Team On Christmas Holiday Trip

The Red and White hockey team will meet Yale and Harvard in New York during the Christmas holidays. The Harvard game is scheduled for the second of January. The Yale game for the fourth. On New Year's Day the squad will face the green shirts of Dartmouth in Boston. Other games can be arranged there. At present officials are corresponding with Springfield and with Boston College to see if contests can be secured with their teams.

Captain Abbott's puckchasers have lost their two regular goalies, Jack Cameron and Jerry Reid, while neither Buzz Hayes nor Bobby Bell of Lachine will be able to play. Murphy was the intermediate goalie last winter while McGee, sub-goalie for the Soo Greyhounds, is at McGill now. MacKinnon who used to play senior hockey in Nova Scotia has just this year obtained his amateur card and should be available. He'll be another prospect for this term's sextet is Blincoe, the last little forward from Bishop's.

Since the intermediates carried off the Dominion title last year, they should be able to provide some good men for senior company. Paul Smith and McGerrigle played good games on defence while Freddy Dion starred on the forward line.

The games in New York will be played in the newlybuilt arena, the proceeds to go to the Children's Hospital. According to the Harvard Crimson, it will mark the first time a Harvard hockey team has taken a trip without either Yale or Princeton as opponents.

"CHRISTIANITY TAKEN NEAT IN ENGLAND"

So Claims Dr. J. R. Glover of Cambridge

THEOLOGS
Says Devil Invented Words
Orthodox and Secretary

Canadian and American people will not come to church unless there are gilded pillars, professional singers and concert. These were the forceful words of Dr. J. R. Glover, Public Orator of Cambridge University, England, former Professor at Queens, when he spoke to the Students of the United Theological Colleges in the David Morrice Hall, Presbyterian College last evening.

After opening prayer by Dr. Rexford, the Dean, Dr. Ritchie, spoke of the fortunate position they found themselves in having so distinguished a speaker and he urged Dr. Glover to speak from his heart. This the speaker did first in expressing his awe of divinity students and then in telling them to keep out of secretarial offices. During the last century the Devil had created first the word Orthodox, then cotemporary and finally the word secretary. The speaker's returning from a lecturing tour in the United States and he stated his marked opinion that the people of America think that they can obtain their theology from the daily newspaper. Just as Andrew Fairbairn saw that compulsory education, revised grammar schools and the opening of Universities to dissenters was putting the public on higher grounds and leaving the ministers behind, so he caused Mansfield College to be inaugurated at Oxford, and there is now no Modernist college in that country. Harvard, similarly placed in the United States had failed to keep pace with people and so the inevitable result had been a crop of scolded prophets and prophetesses. In England they took their Christianity neat; in America and Canada they did not know the Gospel. The immigrant is home sick on Sunday, he can not find his old love, and thus it was the churches were not holding the new population. Sermons often misfire. A minister should not "occupy" a pulpit but fill it. There are times when quiet words do far more work than much talking. Reactions from fasting are physical and not spiritual. Prayer is essential getting the mind of God. If a person is to hal and alleviate human sorrow it must

TENNIS TOURNAMENT SEMI-FINALS THIS AFTERNOON

Abbott, Leslie and Perry Play To-day

CLOSE GAME

Gordon-Perry Match Features Tennis Play in Yesterday's Round

By dint of their victories in yesterday's matches, three men are assured places in the semi-final round of the McGill tennis tournament now being contested, for the Dr. Charles Martin Cup, emblematic of the championship of McGill University. They are Art Abbott, Stan Perry, and Charlie Leslie. Jack Wright will contest the right for the remaining place in the semi-finals with Jack Frith.

The most bitterly-fought match of the day and perhaps of the tournament was that between John Gordon, the fiery-headed seeded star and Stan Perry of last year's intercollegiate team. The pair began the match with a rally, which forced applause from a small group of spectators, and they kept the same pace right through the contest. Perry won by a score of 8-10, 6-2, 6-2.

The men were exceptionally evenly matched. Both play a strong driving and placing match and have no outstanding faults with the possible exception of a rather ragged net game. Perry had a slight edge over Gordon in his driving and service game. Both men were all-nigh exhausted although the hard pace was more evident in Gordon's game than in his opponents. The pair are sure to make a strong bid for a place on the intercollegiate team.

Charles Peters, the man who cut such a dash in the tournament by defeating several seasoned players with astonishing ease, was eliminated from further competition by Art Abbott. The former could not cope with Abbott's burning backhand drives. With a little more speed to his shots and a better forehand drive, Peters promises to develop into a first rate intercollegiate player. Abbott is showing improvement over his last year's performances, and should make a strong fight for entry into the final.

Charlie Leslie experienced little opposition in his two matches yesterday. In the first, he defeated Dobrofsky 6-0, 6-0 and in the second he vanquished a seeded player of class, Jerry Wayland, by a score of 6-0, 6-1. Leslie was in fine form and his game was a treat to watch. Although he was not forced, he exhibited some beautiful placements and backhand drives which skinned the net.

Jack Wright stepped on the courts long enough to beat Archdale 6-1, 6-1. Tomorrow he plays Frith the winner to meet Abbott in the semi-finals later in the day.

At 2 o'clock Leslie and Perry will meet in the semi-finals of the tournament. Judging from the form the pair have shown recently a battle royal is expected. Immediately after this match the winner of the Wright-Frith meeting will hook up with Art Abbott in the other semi-final.

The following are the complete results of yesterday's play.

Wright beat Archdale 6-1, 6-1
Abbott beat Peters 6-0, 6-2
Leslie beat Dobrofsky 6-0, 6-0
Leslie beat Wayland 6-0, 6-1
Perry beat Gordon 8-10, 6-2, 6-2.
Today's draw is as follows:
2:30 p.m. Wright vs Frith
3:30 p.m. Leslie vs Perry
2:30 p.m. Winner of Wright-Frith vs Abbott.

MCGILL WILL HAVE JUNIOR POLO TEAM

Mr. Vernot to Coach Men Again

For the first time in the history of the Swimming Club, McGill is to have a Junior Water Polo team. McGill will meet the C. P. R. in a double header at the Rubenstein Baths on St. George street. Athletic coupons will be good for the McGill home games.

At the meeting last night plans for the season were discussed and the Inter-Collegiate date was announced as February 19 and 20. This year McGill will meet Dartmouth at the Knights of Columbus Bath on February 13.

A motion was moved and carried that Mr. Vernot should continue as Coach. Those who have seen Mr. Vernot feel that he is the man needed

Half Holiday Afternoon lectures are cancelled today to give students an opportunity of attending the Interfaculty track meet.

ORIENTAL QUESTION TO BE DISCUSSED

Ian McEown to Address Student Volunteers

Looking forward to the student conference on foreign missions which is to take place at the end of this month at Oshawa, a gathering of Student Volunteers and all others interested will be held this afternoon in Strathcona Hall at five o'clock. With them Mr. Ian McEown, the Canadian Secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement, will discuss problems of common interest.

The present unrest in China and the uncertainty of its outcome has forced upon the attention of students the whole question of the relationships between the western powers and the nations of Asia. The Chinese situation has shown with new force the impossibility of isolating the various departments of national life. Trade, extra-territoriality, national independence, and missionary activity are inseparably inter-related. The present attitude of the British government towards China may have results that will undo a work that has been built up by devoted service on the part of the missionary. And this attitude may not be an expression of the real heart of the British nation but simply the result of the power in government circles of a few men who have financial interests in China.

The conference at Oshawa is not only for the consideration of the relation of students to the great powers of the East, but also to enable each delegate to find more definitely what his relation to missions in these lands are. It is, after all, the British people who are living in China, India, Japan and Africa who are the real interpreters of Britain to these peoples. And so there is a great need for men and women who are capable of giving a finer interpretation of what the West really means by Christianity.

CHORAL SOCIETY STARTS SEASON

First Practice at Conservatorium of Music Yesterday

Under the direction of Walter Clapperton the McGill Choral Society held its first regular meeting of the year at the Conservatorium of Music last night. A. S. Allen occupied the chair. A short session of business, in which plans for the annual concert were discussed, preceded the choir practice. Mr. Clapperton had an attractive list of music which he intends to use during the year and the members of the society were satisfied with their prospects for the year.

A satisfactory number of members for such an early meeting, was present last night. Practices will be held at the Conservatorium of Music every Thursday night throughout the year.

R. V. C. A. A. MEETING

There will be general meeting of the R.V.C.A.A. on Monday, Oct. 12, at 1 p.m. in the R.V.C. Common Room.

Business: Sports Day and the election of assistant managers.

R. DUNTON, Vice-Pres.

to help McGill retain the Inter-Collegiate honors.

The chairman said that no athletic attendance would be granted to men when they practise outside the Club's jurisdiction. He also pointed out that there is ample room for Freshmen at the water-polo practices.

LITERARY CONTRIBUTIONS

Next week, for the first time this academic year, a Literary Column will appear in the McGill Daily. Articles, poems, plays, and reviews are asked for from those students having the ability and the inclination to write them. They should be addressed to the Literary Editor of the McGill Daily at the McGill Union. There was last year complete co-operation on the part of the student body with the editors of the Literary Supplement (which has been superseded). It is understood, by a "Literary Department" for reasons of economy. If this cooperation is continued, the Daily will not lack for literary, artistic and dramatic contributions.

FRESHMEN MET SOPHOMORES, BUT NOT IN BATTLE

Annual Freshman Reception at Strathcona Hall a Success

ANNUAL AFFAIR

Errol Amaron Makes Hit With Frosh by Welcoming Address

Both soph and freshmen, together with a few senior students turned out last night, and a rousing meeting of welcome was dedicated to the freshmen at Strathcona Hall.

Music, speeches and good-humored sociability were the general note of the whole evening's entertainment. When each guest entered Strathcona Hall, he was met by Len Copland and given a pin and tag, on which every one printed his own name and faculty. In this way, frosh met soph, and senior met freshman; leaders and the new newcomers were all tagged alike, and all were equal in good-fellowship and companionship.

Len Copland, who was the chairman, first called on Jack Duckworth to lead in songs and yells. Denny Smyth excelled as the king of jazz and tickled the ivory to the merry tunes of many of the popular McGill songs. The first part of the meeting was devoted to the yells, in which the enthusiastic freshmen tried to cause the whole neighbourhood to the M-C-G-I-L-L. The walls echoed and reechoed as Jack Duckworth the official cheer-leader, did his stuff to perfection. This part of the program was well timed.

Just as the meeting threatened to become a cheer practice, the chairman got up to introduce the first speaker, Errol Amaron, who has been six years in McGill but is still a sophomore. With these credentials and his way of speaking besides he took the fancy of the freshmen. In a well arranged address of welcome, he told the meeting of the aims of the Students' Christian Association, of its summer work in connection with the helping of newcomers in Montreal, and of the very difficult work of inspection of boarding houses in the neighbourhood of the university in the interests of the students who wished to find sanitary and cleanly rooms. He announced amid great enthusiasm that the conservatory, a social meeting between freshmen and freshettes would take place within a couple of weeks. He talked of the philosophy of life taught by this association, and called for people interested in the S. C. A., one of the best service institutions in the university.

Basel MacLean, president of the Students' Council was called upon and talked about the aims of the Council. He hoped that when students left they would be proud of what they had done, and the old Alma Mater would be proud of them.

Bob MacLeod, president of the Arts Undergraduate Society, and Bert Wells, president of Law Undergraduate Society pleaded for serious thought about religion in very forceful addresses.

Ian McEown also spoke. He is a graduate of Toronto Varsity. Afterwards groups were formed, and refreshments were served.

R. V. C. SPORTS DAY TWO WEEKS AWAY.

Open to Group Two of the M. W. S. A. A.

That women students from any faculty would be allowed to compete in the R. V. C. Sports Day, Saturday, Oct. 24, was announced by Miss Cartwright to-day lists are in charge of Miss D. M. Roberts, and have been placed on the notice board in the R. V. C. These lists must be signed by intending competitors before Saturday, when the lists will be removed.

An inter-year relay race is to be one of the events. It is expected that students outside the R. V. C. will enter either collectively or representing their individual years or faculties. These extra R. V. C. students are also invited to attend the general meetings of both the M. W. S. A. A. and the R. V. C. A. A. The first meeting of the latter is on Monday Oct. 12th.

This meet is the first athletic event of the season for the women students. Later on basketball and hockey activities will afford a further scope for athletic prowess and inter-year rivalry.

CHINESE GRADUATE STUDIES RAILWAYS

Paul C. Fan Now At McGill

That McGill University and the C. P. R. are to be factors in the solving of China's railway problem became evident when it was learned that Mr. Paul C. Fan B. Sc. (Nanyang University) M. Sc. (McGill) has registered here for a course of study leading to an M.A. degree in Economics.

Mr. Fan is a member of the Board of Commissioners of the Peking government a body which corresponds to the Canadian Board of Railway Commissioners. He has completed the course in electrical engineering and for some time has been working in various departments of the C. P. R. becoming acquainted with various aspects of that organization, from the rich store of data he has acquired in his experiences and studies. Mr. Fan will write his thesis on the subject of "Labour Supply in Relation to Chinese Government Railways."

This intensive course of study will provide him with very valuable material to apply to Chinese railway problems, not so very different from Canada's own though very remote to Canada's National conception. Chinese railways are state-owned as are Canada's.

INTERFACULTY RUGBY GAMES IN TWO DIVISIONS

First Game Friday, October 16th

WOOD TROPHY

Schedule and Regulations Issued by J. W. Murray

During the past few years interfaculty rugby has held a rather prominent place in the lives of many McGill men. However this year's record promises to eclipse all previous ones, judging from the enthusiasm displayed. The different faculties appear to have strong teams this year and there should be keen competition for the Wood Trophy. In connection with the games, J. W. Murray wishes those practicing to take note of the following rules.

Games to start at 3:30 P.M. Twenty minutes will be allowed after this time for any Faculty to complete the team. After this they must start with the players then available (i.e. at 3:50).

Games to be four quarters of ten minutes each with ten minute interval half time. Any infringement of medical or eligibility rules gives win to non-offending team.

All players must be medically examined before they play in first match. Players who have taken part in more than one Senior or Intermediate above team for (1) academic reasons, (2) they were not on squad on first intercollegiate game of this season.

The officials nominated by the faculty managers, and appointed by the interfaculty manager have full power under intercollegiate rules. Faculty manager will be responsible for taking attendance of 1st and 2nd year men and handing same in at Department of Physical Education on Mondays.

The two teams at the top of each section play off in that section and the winners play for the right to meet Macdonald College's challenge for the Wood Trophy.

In the event of a tie the position of a team in each section will be determined by the total of the difference of the points scored for and against it.

The first match will be Arts-Medicine on Friday, Oct. 16.

The interfaculty manager may cancel a game on account of rain, in which case the two teams are given a week to play it off.

All final decisions are in hands of interfaculty manager.

COLLEGE TRACK MEET TO-DAY ENTRIES GOOD

Dozen Men Entered for Quarter Mile Event

INTERFACULTY

Keen Competition Expected In all Other Events

At two o'clock this afternoon, the annual interfaculty track meet will take place in the Percival Molson Stadium. Perhaps the number of competitors will be as great as seventy-five, as many past entries have been received and more are expected. The faculty championship, won last year by Medicine, will go to that division of the University scoring most points in the meet, with five points going to the winner, three to second man, two to third and one point to fourth position. There will be about eighteen events on the programme.

The university authorities have declared a half-holiday, in order that both the staff and the undergraduates may witness the races. Competition is bound to be keen, as the winners of each event, if they are in good academic standing, are always popular choices for the intercollegiate team that will oppose Queen's, Western, and Varsity at the end of next week.

The quarter-mile has been popular with the students, some dozen men having signified their intention of running. Paterson should be a good man to watch in this number, as well as in the broad jump. The sprints are attracting quite a lot of attention, but the winner will be difficult to pick.

In the half-mile Captain Hurd has been working well, but he will be hard pressed by such men as Airey, Captain of the Hurriers. In the mile, Rubin and Brodie should provide a pretty race, with both men fighting hard for a win. In the three miles, Goforth looks like the probable winner, but there are quite a number of men entered, and Thompson, Creighton and Walker, to mention only three, should all be in the limelight.

Perhaps the closest fight, on paper, will be seen in the pole-vault, when Consiglio, who starred in the intercollegiate pole-vault last year, meets his rival of the Freshman-Sophomore meet in Blomer. Late of the University of California track team. Both these men retired last week without having missed, but to-day it is likely that the battle will be fought to the finish.

FRESH SOPH. DANCE AT UNION OCT. 16

Innovation Planned in Celebration of Cessation of Hazing

As a fitting celebration of the completion of the hazing period, an innovation is being planned in the form of a Freshman-Sophomore dance in the Union. It will be an informal affair.

The dance will be held on Friday evening the 16th of October and will be the forerunner of a number of informal affairs arranged by the Union Committee. No orchestra has been agreed upon, but one will be announced shortly. Pierre of the Union will do the catering.

The dances at the Union have always proved to be a feature of undergraduate activities and if the plans of the Union House Committee are realized this year should prove no exception to the rule.

NEW CHESS CUP FOR FROSH COMPETITION

Dr. A. S. Eyo was elected honorary president of the McGill Chess Club at the Annual meeting held yesterday in the Union. Mr. Garmaise is president, while M. C. T. Hill fills the office of vice-president. The secretary-treasurer fell to L. Crepeau, Kirsner, the retiring president gave a report of last year's activities.

It has been decided to enter teams both in the Class B and Class C leagues this year. A cup has been donated by Garmaise and Lidsky for competition among the Freshmen, Freshmen desiring to compete, it was pointed out, must give their names and entrance fee to Louis Crepeau at the Engineering Building.

MONTREAL, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1925.

"THE DEFUNCT LITERARY SUPPLEMENT"

Judging by to-day's Correspondence Column it is time for something to be said here regarding "the defunct Literary Supplement."

First of all there is the matter of finances. This year, the Council has determined, must be a year of retrenchment, necessitated by the losses sustained last session. When it was felt that the Literary Supplement could be incorporated in The Daily itself, it seemed foolish to spend money on an extra sheet which brought in no extra return. The new and expensive push-ball, it must be admitted, does not seem to evidence economy on the part of the Council, but as a matter of fact the push-ball was presented to the university as a gift.

Students who were at college last term will remember that very often the pages of The Daily contained an excessive amount of jokes from College Humor and long articles dealing with (to certain amount of this is desirable, but to have several columns of jokes from College Humor and long articles dealing with (to steal a few phrases from yesterday's Correspondence) the "Hot Puppy Custom" of University of Mugwash, Mugwash, Okla., or the text-book money question in Hotpoint Academy. Hotpoint, Texas, filling up about half the news space of McGill's undergraduate paper is not so desirable. In short, there is plenty of room in The Daily itself for contributed feature articles, so why go to work and add two more pages?

It should not be thought that there is any attempt to nip undergraduate literary endeavour in the bud. Contributions are desired just as much as when the Supplement was being published, and will be given due prominence.

It is hoped to make the Editorial Page a real Editorial Page containing writing of a high order—outside the editorial column itself we hasten to add for we are nothing if not modest.

AMALGAMATION

The administration of McGill, both Faculty and Student, learn with considerable pleasure that the Maritime and Western Clubs are about to amalgamate. This is only one step short of the goal that must ultimately be reached—complete abolition of all clubs that savour of sectionalism. But things can't be done in a hurry; the uniting of the Western and Atlantic provinces is a great step in and of itself. In the meantime, however, what is going to become of students whose homes are in Quebec and Ontario? Are they to fend for themselves? Perhaps the new Maritime-Western Club will admit men from these provinces to their association—then everybody will be happy.

TOO MUCH NOISE

The McGill Union is the club of McGill Students, and hence, supposedly a club of gentlemen. This term, however, a condition which has unfortunately obtained for the past three years is again very much in evidence. To enter the Union is to be met with a babel of loud voices, with shouting, and attempts at whistling and singing; to enter the billiard room is to enter Bedlam itself. The game of billiards or even of pool (Boston or Straight) does not require the use of expletives, nor of the frequent raising of the voice above the ordinary pitch. It takes less time to run up the score when less time is spent on giving violent vent to the feelings. The "gentleman's game" can be played in a gentlemanly way. The Union need not be a rough-house.

MEDICINE MEN HELD LIGHT RUGBY PRACTICE

The Medicine Rugby squad met for the first time yesterday afternoon and indulged in a light workout. Going to the fact that there were no lines on the field nothing but punting could be done. The squad shows lack of condition but after to-day's practice the rugby machine should be working better.

Medicine should be able to field a strong team, for enrolled in the faculty are Grassick, Chisholm, Red McLeod, Taylor, the former end for Varsity, Brooke MacDermott, Somerville, Cheeseman and Peacock.

COLLEGE TRACK MEET TO-DAY

Blomer and MacKay ought to do well in the hurdles, while Darling can also be counted on as dangerous. The broad jump will see a large field in action, with Paterson and Consiglio again well to the fore. The high jump will offer some keen rivalry, with opinions as to the ultimate winner divided.
Jardine and Taylor seem two likely shot-putters, while the latter and Amaron will be prominent in the discus. In the javelin, Goddard is showing excellent form. But whatever the forecasts, with the large fields entered, there are certain to be several upsets by dark horses.
Every man must have been physically examined before he will be permitted to take part in the meet. All competitors are warned that no man will be allowed on the field unless he has obeyed the rules in this respect. The officials for the meet were announced yesterday.

Headed the list, as Honorary Referee, is Sir Arthur Currie, Referee, Dr. F. J. Teague, Judges at finish, Dr. C. J. MacMillan, (Chief), W. E. Findlay, R. C. Iselin, D. G. Professor Aids Medical Players in Their Studies

Dr. Bazin has joined the coaching staff of the rugby team though he does not appear at practices. Each night after the training table rugby lecture is finished the squad adjourn to their quarters in the field house and before retiring put in a two hour study period. Dr. Bazin last night, took charge of the Med's and gave them a few pointers on how to make yards in their studies. It is expected that professors of other faculties will also coach their own men in the same way.

Bellevue would in all probability enter a team. The men from the end of the Island have not much opportunity to develop many good track men, but last year they had one representative on the Intercollegiate Championship team, and this year their slogan is "More men on the McGill team". Several will be seen in action this afternoon.

ROWING CLUB WILL MEET TO-NIGHT

To Revise Constitution And Elect Officers

The McGill Rowing Club gets under way to-night at its semi-annual meeting in preparations for a stiff season's work. The most important business is a revision of the constitution, particularly in regard to fees and offices. This revision has been made necessary by the experience of the summer, which has shown up the highlights and holes in the constitution as drawn up before the club had any experience on the water. Certain officers constitutionally have to be elected at this meeting, namely, the faculty representatives. The summer successes must also be discussed, and the reports of the executive submitted. The Rowing Club has done very well considering, this summer, and prospectively and past members will find these reports very satisfying.

The proposed revisions of the constitution are as follows:
Clause under Memberships to be changed to read—Active members to consist of students and past students of McGill University. Members to be admitted on making application through 3 active members to the executive of the club, by a 3-5 vote of the executive; and payment of annual fees on demand.

Honor members to consist of friends of the club, who on being approached by the executive, pays this required fee.

Life members to consist of past active members of the Club, and friends of the club who have been nominated by the nominating committee with the written approval of the Athletic Mgr. Friends of the Club to pay the required fee. Elected by open ballot at the semi-annual meeting.

Officers (to be changed to read) To consist of an executive—Hon. pres. vice-pres. and sec-treas. coach, president; secretary; treasurer; rowing captain; clubhouse Mgr.

Fees (to be changed to read) Active $3.50; Honor $10.00; life $100.00.

Office. The president and honorary officers shall be elected by open ballot at annual meeting. The rest of the executive to be similarly elected at Residents' Meeting. Only active summer members may hold office. Representatives shall be elected at the semi-annual meeting. Besides these other minor revisions to be made.

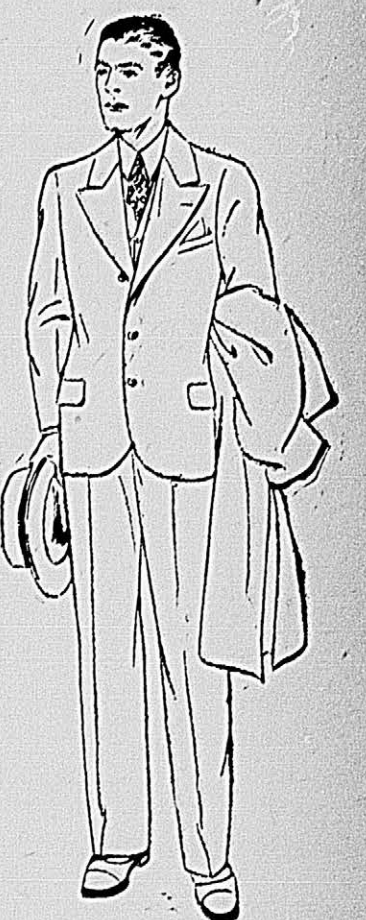

THE TREND IN UNIVERSITY CLOTHES

University men are keen critics of clothes. They have very definite ideas regarding what constitutes correctness.

These ideas have been embodied in the University models—"The Brighton"—"The Harrogate" and "The Cambridge"—the newest of Semi-ready's creations.

A "Carefully Careless" Swing implying casual comfort—loose, easy lines—fine exclusive fabrics in the newest weaves and color combinations, chosen with due deference to College preferences.

These are reasons why these Semi-ready University Models are accepted as authentically correct and why they will be favored on the Campus this Fall and Winter. We shall enjoy showing you these typically University styles.

RUGBY. THE THUNDERING 1000 --- WHO STOLE THEIR THUNDER?

Gridiron says:—
Before a large gathering of fans, composed mostly of downtown business men and those out of a job the four squad went through one of the best practices seen for some time. The regulars and the seconds were going at it hammer and tongs again yesterday in heavy scrimmage work. The Hanna-Cameron-Murray trio were going at top speed and showed conclusively that the lost art of end running is shortly to be revived at McGill. These three gave an exhibition of running and passing that was a treat to watch the only trouble being that there were no students there to enjoy the treat.

Despite the fact that he is disabled with two broken fingers, Ralph St. Germain was out at practice, and moreover was kicking long spirals for forty and fifty yards. St. Germain hasn't taken long to get the old McGill spirit and is to be commended for turning out to practice with his hand in a plaster cast. Les Parsons was also out despite his crock and limped around quite happily. "Lee" wishes to announce that the crock referred to is on his foot and not on his shoulder as was rumored around the Engineering building yesterday. Gordie Hughes also appeared in uniform today and was at his old place at outside wing.

As a matter of fact, they were all there except the fans. Some few estimable souls wandered in during the afternoon, but for the most part the bleachers were bare. It was a shocking sight to say the least. A couple of nights ago there was a practice of the "Thundering 1000" in the Union and twelve men turned out. Where is the old McGill spirit someone asks. Downtown, at the shows, if you ask me.

Back in 1920 when I first came to college, there used to be a practice three times a week and it was at the stadium. That's when the term the thundering 1000 originated. The cheer leader, "Feedles" Thompson got the gang up there to practice the yell while the team was practicing and the squad knew that the fellows were behind them. It's a good thing nowadays that they don't hold the rosters practices at the stadium. The team would be greatly discouraged at the sight of the noble twelve. There wasn't any band in those days either but the lads made up for it in the yelling. Well, it's up to the cheer leader. We have the band and we have the boys we've got the team too, so why not a little action. What about a rosters practice twice a week at the stadium while the practice is going on and have the band lead the rosters up there in a procession? Coach Shaughnessy said at the Pop Rally that if we were to win the Intercollegiate Title this year we would have to do it on spirit and on spirit alone. We couldn't beat the Deaf and Dumb Institute on the spirit shown so far. Next week, there will be another rosters practice held. Next week we play Queens who have three times won the championship of Canada. To all appearances, they are better this year than ever before. They won't play here until the seventeenth. But if the thundering 1000 show up at the stadium a couple of times with the band before that date, they'll be beaten before they leave Kingston. What about it, men of McGill?

I was telling you yesterday about Eddie Hanna. Let me introduce today Joe Cameron, commonly known as "the Artful Dodger." Joe doesn't figure very much in the scales, but boy, he's there on the gridiron. They still speak his name in a whisper around St. Andrews. Joe is another member of that excellent class, third year Commerce who have sent four regulars to the rugby squad. Where does he play? He plays on the half line, you darn fool.

RUGGER HOPES LOW SAYS CAPT. ROOME

The hopes of the McGill rugger team seem to be very low for the coming season, according to their captain who said yesterday at the practice that the team had only a small chance of winning their first game on Saturday afternoon when they will meet the Montreal English. The main complaint seems to be the lack of material and new men. Captain Roome claims that if they could only get a few men who have a little experience to turn out that they might be able to entertain brighter hopes for the coming season.

As the team now stands there are only four or five last year's men out to practice and only three of whom will be able to take the field on Saturday. Roome, the captain will be unable to play on account of academic reasons. The men who were on the team last year and will play on Saturday are Hare, Campbell Brown, and D. D. McGinn. These men will take the field with the rest of the team composed of new men.

THE OIL-BIRD

One of the curiosities of bird-life of South America is the "oil-bird," or guacharo. It breeds in rocky caves on the mainland, and one of its favorite haunts is the island of Trinidad. It lays its eggs in a nest made of mud, and the young birds are prodigiously fat. The natives melt the fat down in clay pots, and produce from it a kind of butter. The caves inhabited by the birds are usually accessible only from the sea, and the hunting of them is sometimes an exciting sport.

The Scarlet Key

ELECTION OF MEMBERS

The objects of the proposed Scarlet Key Society have already been dealt with in the Daily. It is now proposed to deal with the membership and the mode of election. The constitution provides for a total active membership of thirty-five, Arts, Commerce, Applied Science and Medicine supplying seven each, with four from Dentistry and three from Law. These men are to be chosen from the second and third years in all but Law where they are to come from first and second years.

The election of members under the constitution is to take place on two different days, those elected from the upper years at the same time as the Union House Committee and those from the lower at the time of the faculty representatives to the Students' Executive Council. In the first election four men each from Arts, Commerce, Science and Medicine, three from Dentistry and two from Law are elected. They are nominated by any ten men proceeding toward the same degree as the proposed member who, himself, must have passed in full all examinations necessary for him to proceed with his year. Those partials and men carrying subjects from previous years are incapable of being elected.

The men to be elected from the lower years are nominated by those already elected. The nominating body must however, propose sufficient men in each faculty to name an election. The same academic standing as required as in the former case. The election is carried out by the undergraduates of the individual faculties.

This provision restricting the power to nominate men from the lower years may at first glance appear fanciful. It must be remembered, however, that this is an Honorary Society, a Society whose members must attain co-ordination and, as far as possible, homogeneity. This provision is, then, an attempt to further those ideals. It will be noticed that the constitution demands an election, insuring the undergraduates of a chance to voice approval.

The executive of the Society consists of a president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer, four all told. They are elected by the members of the society from those elected from the upper year.

On the whole, the aim of the Constitution is to form a Society elected by the undergraduates at large and, at the same time, reserving to its members some limited choice as to who shall be included and who shall form the governing body of the Society. It is possible that some new principles are involved in these plans, strange to the students. However, a college generation is roughly four years. If the inauguration of the Scarlet Key is approved by the Students in the meeting of the society on October 21st, by the time the present freshman class, that of '23, is ready to graduate, it should be an old established institution, smooth running and fully comprehended by all students of McGill.

In an East African district a doctor acts as understudy to the magistrate. Recently, when each was conscious of having broken the law by riding at night without a light, they agreed that the majesty of the law would be best vindicated by each appearing before the other. The magistrate, we are told, taking precedence, tried the doctor and fined him five pounds. Then the doctor tried the magistrate and fined him twenty pounds, justifying his severity by pointing out that since this was the second case that day, obviously the offence was becoming too common.

The Editor

"McGill Daily"

Dear Sir,

Permit me through the medium of your column to register the protest of a graduate against the suppression of the Literary Supplement.

It seems to be a little hard to get at the actual figures; the statement in the "Daily" was bold to a degree. Apparently the gross cost of the Supplement was some $500 per session with a net cost at a lower figure. But it is the facts that really matter. Because the Literary Supplement cost the undergraduate body something under twenty cents a head one of the most creditable of student enterprises is to be scrapped in order among other things, that the Freshman and Sophomores may have a nice, new expensive push-ball to play about with. When it was proposed some two years ago to tax the students ten times that amount for the support of athletics, in addition to what they were already paying, there was nothing but a feeble minority protest.

Now it may be claimed that as far as we graduates are concerned it is none of our business to criticize any action of the Students' Council. But we graduates have a function that is peculiarly our own; it is our business to spread the name and fame of McGill. To make use of the inelegant but expressive language current in the School of Commerce, it is up to us to sell McGill; and when the Students Council deprive us of our very best advertising copy we have an undoubted right to protest.

It is popular myth that McGill is known and respected from Kamchatka to Cape Horn. This may be true to a certain degree in the English-speaking World but it does not hold good elsewhere. Last winter it was my privilege to be doing post-graduate work in Paris. Now the French are a charming but very busy people, and they have not always time to read up much about foreign parts. In fact I am afraid much of the average French students Canadiana is derived from "The Last of the Mohicans" and "Marie Chaperdaine." After I had convinced people that I was neither a coureur-de-bois nor a half-breed my aim was to further the interests of McGill. With a stray copy of the Literary Supplement this was comparatively easy. It was examined, duly admired and McGill was seen to be a place where students actually thought and wrote and produced something worth while.

This year I shall feel like a missionary despatched to foreign parts without an adequate supply of testaments and corn-plasters for the heathen.

It will be vain for me to assure my Hidalgo acquaintances in Madrid that last year we nearly won the football championship from Queens or that the local S. C. A. is visited by a more eloquent brand of itinerant evangelist than any other in the country. They will smile politely and I hope, offer me a glass of "vincentino." The goods will not be there to show them.

In conclusion I hope nobody will be so fond as to imagine that the Literary Supplement can be run just as well in some empty lot on one of the pages of the "Daily". It can not. I had the honour of founding and editing the immediate predecessor of the Literary Supplement under just such circumstances I and my associates breathed a sigh of relief when our infant discarded its swaddling clothes and stood on its own feet as the Literary Supplement under other and more capable guidance. I shall get over the personal disappointment of seeing it chucked back into the cradle but I am sorry for the sake of McGill. It will be increasingly hard to explain that McGill is not the name of some Yankee breakfast food.

Sincerely Yours

F. H. WALTER

Oct. 7 1925

Dear Mr. Editor,

I noticed in a recent issue of the Daily reference to the "defunct Literary Supplement." This statement must have been a great surprise to many of the students, who had no acknowledgment of the "defuncting" of the Supplement.

I for one, enjoyed the Wednesday "Daily" very much last year, and looked forward to it this year. Knowing that the majority of the students feel the same way as I do about this matter, would it be asking too much to have the Secretary of the Student's Council give us the reasons for "defuncting" one of the major interests of the Student body of McGill?

Yours, etc.

L. Scowlow.

"McGill Daily"

The Editor

Sir:

I noted in yesterday's columns of your estimable journal with the greatest of disgust the following statement in an article headed "Literary Contributions."

"If the precedent of response on the part of McGill students to the defunct Literary Supplement be continued nothing more satisfactory can be expected."

When did the supplement "defunct" and why? I for one have not heard anything about it. Surely last year's splendid effort has not been nipped in the bud. I have seen no account of the demise of the Supplement in the Daily and on questioning some of my friends find they too have noted nothing. Would not an explanation of the above mentioned statement serve to enlighten us somewhat?

Yours truly,

MISS CARTWRIGHT ADDRESSES TEACHERS

Medical inspection of all children in all the schools of Canada was the demand which Miss Cartwright made yesterday at an afternoon session of the convention of the Provincial Protestant Teachers. Assisted by a number of M. S. P. E. students Miss Cartwright gave a demonstration of the setting-up exercises which could be carried on in the class-room of a rural school. These exercises could be arranged so as to meet the demand of pupils of different ages and the benefit derived from them was that they promoted circulation and allowed a change of posture. A discussion then followed and Mr. C. E. Fowler of the High School expressed appreciation of the demonstration and also offered the criticism that such exercises as dancing might endanger the school building in which they were being carried on. Miss Cartwright's answer to this was that if the building was in such a condition it deserved to come down.

"My wife's old man used to be a prize fighter."
"What does that make you?"
"Nervous."

Collegiate!

THERE'S going to be some sweet doings around the Frat when Bill discovers you've borrowed his new dinner jacket; and you have stretched Jimmy's dress shoes a bit, and he'll likely have something to say about that.

But, why worry? You look doggie in your borrowed plumes, and it's going to be a wow of a night.

Nothing to do now but call a Yellow and go for—well, never mind who—but she's a glorious thing and deserves the best, so it's got to be a Yellow.

The Yellow Cab will arrive right on the dot, it will be spotlessly clean inside and out because every Yellow is washed and fumigated every night. The driver will be spick and span and courteous and careful—as he should be, considering how precious is his freight.

Then the dance—the feed bag—another Yellow—a goodbye with a kick in it—a wonderful night—everything right, everything "Collegiate." Be swish, call that Yellow.
